

He said that a nation "of the people, by the people,
and for the people" must survive.