

The rectangular battle flag of the Army of Tennessee

Despite never having historically represented the CSA as a country nor officially recognized as one of the national flags, it is commonly referred to as "the Confederate flag" and has become a widely recognized symbol of the American south. It was used as a battle flag by the Army of Northern Virginia under General Lee.